FEED THE HUNGRY
in our community.*

You are loved. We are blessed!

From the desk of Pastor Collin...

Greetings to you in the name of our Lord, Jesus Christ,

Pentecost was wonderful. Not only welcoming the gift of the Holy Spirit, but also celebrating the anniversary of our home church. 75 years of ministry and fellowship may not seem like a lot, but to those whom we have touched it is plenty.

For me, the greatest part of the day was having lunch together. It has been so long since we gathered around tables and had a meal. I had tears in my eyes looking around and seeing everyone fellowshiping together. It was a reminder of what makes our church so wonderful, you.

Thank you for being a part of this wonderful family. Your love and presence are what makes Waverly Road a beautiful and blessed place. I give thanks to God for each and every one of you.

May God continue to bless,

—Rev. Collin

June 19–25, 2022

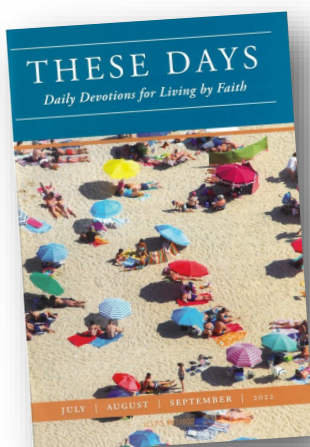

To all:

This past Friday we delivered 35 bags. Added to the 42 from last week, June is off to a strong start. We maybe seeing the combined impact of higher prices and reduced supply in our increasing numbers. —Pete Lodol

The adult Apprentice Sunday School Class just celebrated its 10th Anniversary this Spring. Over the past decade, the class has conducted 15 different studies of contemporary and classic writings on theology, discipleship, and Christian community. We are just concluding a 2-1/2 year study of The Devotional Classics from Renovare USA. Since March of 2020, we have been meeting by Zoom on Sunday mornings at 9:15. Beginning next week, June 5, we will resume “hybrid” classes, with some of us meeting in person in the Meeting Room and others joining by Zoom. We will also soon begin a new study of the book The Great Omission: Re-claiming Jesus's Essential Teachings on Discipleship, by Dallas Willard. We invite you to join The Apprentice Class Sunday mornings in the Meeting Room in person or by contacting Sharon Petke for the Zoom link.

The NEW These Days Publications are here!

The NEW These Days publications for JULY, AUGUST and SEPTEMBER have arrived! They are located as you enter the Narthex on the small table inside the Sanctuary door.

If you would like a copy mailed to you, please call Amy in the church office at 247-5121 and she will be glad to mail a copy to you.

HEALTH Matters

Do Bamboo Pillows Have Health Benefits?

By Markham Heid / webmd.com

Bamboo is everywhere these days. Fibers from the fast-growing plant -- which is technically a grass, not a tree -- are turning up in clothing, bedding, building materials, and other goods, including pillows.

What exactly is a bamboo pillow? It's partly made with bamboo fibers, which come from a crushed up, treated, and hardened mixture of bamboo leaves and trunk flesh. The bamboo portion of the pillow is in the casing, not the stuffing.

Some potential health benefits are:

Bamboo naturally wicks moisture and heat. The fibers of the bamboo plant are hollow, and the small gaps and holes in bamboo fibers absorb moisture. They also allow hot air to escape. Compared to other fabrics used to make pillows, bamboo may be better at keeping a sleeper's head cool and dry.

Bamboo fabrics are soft and static-free. Bamboo fibers are naturally anti-static and anti-cling. Woven into fabric, they also tend to be soft and lustrous, somewhat like cashmere or silk.

Bamboo may be antibacterial and hypoallergenic. There's some evidence that bamboo fibers naturally resist the growth of bacteria. This means they're less likely to harbor microorganisms that could lead to illness or smelly odors. But some studies that have looked at bamboo have not found that it's more anti-bacterial than cotton.

There is also some evidence that bamboo really is less likely to cause an allergic reaction compared to some other textiles.

Bamboo is easy to care for. Compared to cotton, bamboo materials are more wrinkle-resistant and less likely to shrink in the wash.

Bamboo can be eco-friendly. From an environmental standpoint, there are a few more benefits of bamboo. Compared to trees, bamboo absorbs much more carbon dioxide -- a greenhouse gas -- and makes more fresh oxygen.

Bamboo also grows back much more quickly than most plants. It's one of the fastest-growing plants in the world. It biodegrades easily, and it doesn't need much water. In most cases, rainwater is enough to sustain bamboo growth.

The Prospect House... just waiting for your next event!

Ok... Waverly Roaders, please don't forget that we have a very nice facility across the street: The Prospect House. It's furnished comfortably with enough seating for several people to have small group discussions, private parties for members, Sunday school classes and more. It also has a full-service kitchen for serving food and entertaining. So, don't let it languish over there without being used. A lot of thought was put into refurbishing it and making it nice for our congregation's use. If you would like to reserve The Prospect House, we have Request for Use of Building Forms in the Church Office. To make a reservation, just call Amy at (423) 247-5121 or send an email to wrpc@waverlyroadpc.org.

Waverly Wanderers

Did you know there are many more SALT groups up-and-coming to help us form tighter bonds in fellowship? For instance, we are reviving a program we had for many years here as a new SALT group called Waverly Wanderers.

We are going to start wandering again! We'll enjoy plays, concerts, crafts, presentations, dinner theater, and many more adventures together. You don't have to be a senior, and you don't have to be retired. If your schedule allows, hop on the bus with us! It is not the destination we seek but the journey in getting there. If you're interested in getting on the email list about Waverly Wanderers, contact Rachel Lawson at rachelzbth@gmail.com.
